Or have suffered a stroke, are on Coumidin or any prescription that the absence would mentally or physically incapacitate (e.g. psychotic episodes, seizures. People taking prescription drugs should consult with their physician.

Everyone's body is different, and their health needs vary. You may choose to have a footbath just once or twice a week. A general cleansing process which has had excellent results for many people with a condition is a series of 14 baths-one bath every other day-with a 21 day rest period between each series to allow the body to balance and metabolize on it's own. After the 21 days, repeat the series: 14 baths-every other day-followed by another 21 day rest period.

Important Reminder: Drink lots of water during and after a footbath. I have read & understand that this is a cleansing process not a medical treatment.
